

Marie A. Heath has received a BA degree in physics and an MS degree in electrical engineering from Northeastern University. Now retired after many years at MIT Lincoln Laboratory, she enjoys honing her creative writing skills. Marie has had an article accepted for publication in Tapestries for the fall of 2008 and has been published in The Gardner News.